Progressive Party Leader Answers
Questions About Perkins and Governor Wilson.

(By the Associated Press.)
BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 17.—Colonel Roosevelt opened his progressive campaign here today with four speeches. His followers gathered in throngs, sang songs and cheered. The scenes of rejoicing were those generally associated with a political rally. Some of those who took part in it compared it to a new revival camp meeting. At each meeting the crowd sang the battle hymns of the new party. "Forward, Christians!"

Roosevelt mixed politics and morals. Now abjuring his heretofore set high standard of public and private life and again speaking bluntly of his conception of the political procedure and attacking the opponents sharply.

In one of his speeches Roosevelt referred to Taft as "a dead issue."

During one of his speeches some one in the crowd shouted "How about Perkins?" Roosevelt retorted, "That he would be delighted to tell about Perkins."

"Perkins is a rich man," said Roosevelt, "and came into the movement not at my request, but upon his own initiative."

Continuing, the Colonel asserted that he also felt a curiosity to know why Perkins supported him and when he asked him, Roosevelt said Perkins replied: "The prime reason is because I have children and I have come to the conclusion this country won't be a good place for my children unless relations between capital and labor are put on a better basis. I wish to support any movement which will bring this about. So far as I can see, you are the only public man who in good faith is supporting these views."

This was almost exactly what Elmer of Pennsylvania told him later, assert of the former president.

"How about Wilson?" another of his hearers wanted to know.

Roosevelt replied, "If you think you can get anything good out of the old machine-washed Democratic party I advise your optimism, but pity your judgment."

Most of the members of the house and senate are anxious to get home to take part in their state campaign's and it is known that President Taft wants to go to Beverly as soon as possible for a few weeks rest and some games of golf. Both houses have been holding long sessions for the past two weeks in the hope of finishing up the business at hand.
